

Hanging Signs

Our hanging signs are an important identification product in the warehouse environment, offering highly visual points of reference at large distances.

We have a wide range of experience in providing identification systems for some of the UK's largest distribution centres and warehouses.

Hanging signs can be processed and manufactured quickly via cut vinyl or solvent ink printed materials.

Hanging signs are produced in-house with alpha, numeric and or barcode data offering a block-stack solution with long-range scanning capabilities and an eye readable location marker as a low maintenance fix and forget solution. Manufactured in various sizes and materials, our hanging signs are available as standard or can be tailored to the individual requirements of our client for the most appropriate warehouse identification solution.

We can hang signs from your ceiling or via a washing line arrangement between two posts.

“Our vision is to be the supplier of choice for warehouse and industrial identification, safety systems and associated products, offering clients a quality-driven, total solution via multi-channel procurement methods.”
